“

I have the opportunity to see and treat my Glaucoma patients multiple times throughout the year, and this allows me to truly develop lasting relationships. The time I spend with patients and their families gives me the opportunity to educate and alleviate any fears they may have regarding their eye disease, treatment plan, and future outlook.

MOLLY M. WALSH, MD, MPH
OPHTHALMOLOGIST

Duke Fellowship Trained Glaucoma Specialist

Dr. Walsh is a University of Notre Dame Alumni, receiving her bachelor's degree from the Fighting Irish in 1994. She then went on to complete her Master's in Public Health from Tulane University in 1995 and graduated from the Tulane University School of Medicine in 2000. Dr. Walsh completed her Glaucoma Fellowship from Duke University in 2006 where she went on to become the Regional Hospital Medical Director of Duke Ophthalmology in 2015 where she stayed until she decided to join the Boling Vision Center Team in March 2021!

Throughout her medical training, Dr. Walsh was drawn to eyes as they were one of the most intricate organs in the body. She soon realized that she thoroughly enjoyed the eye, and enjoyed the opportunity to see and treat her patients throughout the year, due to the chronic nature of Glaucoma. This allowed her to truly develop lasting relationships with her patients and gave her the time to educate and alleviate any fears they, or their families, may have regarding their disease, treatment plan, and future outlook.

Dr. Walsh is also the patent holder of several breakthrough technologies that are currently being used to help treat, manage, and lower intraocular pressure in glaucoma patients. In addition, she has been published in multiple highly recognized medical journals and has been the recipient of many awards including the Achievement Award in October of 2019 from the American Academy of Ophthalmology.

Dr. Walsh is excited to return to her collegiate hometown to serve the South Bend, Elkhart, and Goshen communities as well as all of the communities in the surrounding areas!
